

Affidavit

Instruction:

Because this is a declaration that can have serious consequences, the legislator has made it a criminal offence to make a false affidavit. Making a false affidavit is a punishable offence. In the event of wilful (i.e. knowing) false declaration is punishable by a prison sentence of up to three years or a fine. A negligent submission (i.e. submission although you should have recognised that the declaration does not correspond to the facts) can result in a prison sentence of up to one year or a fine. The corresponding penal provisions are reproduced below:

§ 156 StGB: False affirmation in lieu of an oath

Any person who makes a false affirmation before an authority responsible for taking an oath affirmation or makes a false statement in reliance on such an affirmation shall be punished by imprisonment for up to three years or a fine.

§ 163 StGB: Negligent false statement, negligent false affirmation in lieu of an oath

- (1) If one of the offences specified in sections 154 to 156 has been committed through negligence, a custodial sentence not exceeding one year or a monetary penalty shall be imposed.
- (2) No penalty shall be imposed if the offender corrects the false statement in good time. The provisions of section 158 (2) and (3) shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Declaration:

On the significance of an affidavit intended for submission to the court and the criminal consequences of wilfully and negligently providing incorrect information, in particular about the threat of punishment in accordance with § 156 StGB up to three years imprisonment or a fine in the case of an intentional offence or, pursuant to Section 163 (1) StGB, up to one year imprisonment or a fine for negligent offences, I declare that
